

Coaching for ENGLISH as an additional language

One-on-one or in small groups

Improve English language skills

Organisations need staff who communicate well, whether in text or out loud. Sometimes staff are expert in their fields but need further support to improve their English language skills.

Ethos CRS offers specific coaching for staff who have English as a second or additional language. Our coaches are experts in language teaching methods and know how English is used in a professional environment.

Our method is communicative—we focus on how language is used to best effect in different documents and situations.

Ethos CRS coaches provide a structured program that builds skills and confidence quickly and efficiently. Coaching ensures that professionals receive the assistance and support they need to succeed in their roles.

The process of coaching is simple, no matter how complex the requirement. Our coaches will work with staff to define needs and outcomes, and to construct a program that will optimise their language communication performance.
